

The Sky's the Limit

Created for those with a passion for paragliding, flying, skydiving, hang gliding, mountain climbing, skiing, or simply enjoying the fresh air and stunning views, the Brevia Genie 02 Air combines the sophistication of a beautifully crafted mechanical timepiece with the practicality of a fully functional, high-performance altimeter. The black titanium case frames the easy-to-read black dial, ensuring that the time and altitude can be easily read at a glance. The finely finished movement, much of which can be viewed through the open dial and exhibition caseback, was developed exclusively for Brevia by award-winning movement constructor Jean-Francois Mojon. Price: $132,000.

